Druid's Dreaming 2009 The Show will go on!

Major developments in Druid's Dreaming 2009 have resulted in the need for a change in venue. This has resulted in Ticket numbers being seriously limited. We have also made minor changes to the schedule to accommodate the new venue and set up.

Adelaide Hills Council notified me late yesterday Thursday the 5th November 2009 of concerns they had for safety with the Adelaide Hills Wilderness Lodge. These related to proposed attendance numbers. During discussions it became obvious that this was not the biggest issue but that if temperatures predicted by the Bureau of Meteorology for next week eventuated the site would actually be dangerous to proceed with and they would cancel the event.

We felt it best to ensure the continuity of the event to seek another venue and with Council support and recommendations we have secured Longwood Camp on Stock Rd just outside of Stirling. All existing tickets will automatically transfer to this venue and all arrangements for accommodation will also be fulfilled at this location.

However this leaves us with a very limited number of tickets left for our Inaugural Druid's Dreaming Event. So if you do not want to miss Damh the Bard playing his first Australian Concert or Wendy Rule and RavenWolf perform you had better be quick. We have retained some excellent acts even though we have sadly had to cut a couple of bands.

WE apologise for any inconvenience caused by these rescheduling and will attempt to assist our patrons in any way who are already attending with their changes but I think everyone can appreciate the threat posed by bush fires in Australia and so all attendees can be reassured now we have taken all possible precautions to protect their safety.

So How do you get there?

Exit the Freeway at the Stirling/Aldgate exit. As you enter Stirling you will come to a Roundabout. Turn right. Follow this road for 5kms. Turn left into Stock Road. Longwood Camp is approx 1.7kms on the right

If you have any issues or concerns please contact me as soon as possible.
